Merger of City Hospitals...Still in the Talking Stage

KINGSTON — Merger of Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals has been a topic of discussion and numerous meetings between the two boards for the past three years, but according to a joint statement issued today, plans remain in the talking stage.

The presidents of the hospitals' respective boards of directors reviewed those talks in a statement today.

The statement has been issued "as a result of questions being raised" about joint hospital facilities, according to Clifford

A. Henze, president of the board of directors of the Benedictine Hospital, and Wilbur R. Peters, president of the board of trustees of the Kingston Hospital. They said they "believe it appropriate and in the public interest to clearly state their position on this important matter."

The statement, which endorses cooperation on the part of the two hospitals but expresses doubt about the feasibility of actual corporate merger, is as follows:

"Over the past three years, members of both boards have been exploring the feasibility of a single hospital facility. During this period the Ulster County Medical Society has endorsed this objective. These investigations were prompted by a mutual desire on the part of both hospitals and their medical staffs to contain the spiraling cost of medical care and health services. The principal area of attention was to avoid duplication of costly facilities, thus minimizing the need for continuing capital outlay.

"In principle, although an ultimate corporate merger has many advantages, a move of this magnitude requires intensive study and is not feasible at this time. This is not to say, however, that both institutions can't immediately start working together cooperatively; indeed, it is in this area where productive work is being done and discussions are currently being held.

One important subject is the possible consolidation of certain medical departments to serve both hospitals, thereby freeing existing beds for new medical services with a minimum of capital expense; the establishment of a single data processing center to serve both hospitals and possibly the Kingston City Laboratory; joint maintenance of buildings and grounds; joint purchasing; are but a few examples of where future cost savings may be achieved.

"In conjunction with this effort, individual and joint planning by both boards for future hospital expansion must continue if we are to keep pace with the anticipated health needs of our community in the years ahead."

"In summary, both boards are working together in an attempt to avoid unnecessary duplication of services and facilities and to provide this area with the best possible health care at the lowest possible cost."

Kingston Hospital is seeking to acquire the site of the old City Hall at 408 Broadway for expansion purposes. The old City Hall will be left vacant when the city government moves to the new hall in Broadway East, a move expected to take place next weekend.

The Kingston Landmarks

Preservation Commission wants the building designated as an historic site. It has already been placed on the National Registry of Historic Places.

Common Council action in the designation of the 99-year-old structure as a historic landmark was expected at the Sept. 5 regular meeting of the aldermen, but the Laws and Rules Committee of the Council could not reach agreement on bringing the issue to the Council floor.

Several aldermen indicated they wanted to further sample public opinion in their wards before casting votes.

Second in U. N. History

Veto by U.S. Kills Anti-Israeli Resolution

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States cast its second veto in the history of the U.N. Security Council Sunday night. It killed a resolution demanding a halt to Israeli reprisal raids but making no mention of the Arab terrorism that provoked the raids.

The veto came after an all-day debate on the Palestinian guerrilla massacre of Israeli Olympic athletes in Munich Tuesday and Israeli air strikes Friday at reputed guerrilla positions in Syria and Lebanon.

China and the Soviet Union earlier had vetoed amendments that would have applied the resolution to terrorist activities as well as military operations.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush said their vetoes killed "a very important passage that could have made the resolution more acceptable."

Explaining his own veto, he said the resolution ignored realities and "looked to effect but not to cause." Its "silence on the disaster in Munich" invited more terrorism, he said.

"We seek and support a world in which athletes need not fear assassins and passengers on planes need not fear hijacking," Bush declared.

Bush got applause from the gallery for his veto. And Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah, absent because of the Jewish New Year, told newsmen by telephone that the U. S. vote would be "applauded by the people of Israel."

Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik spoke of "the distressing events which occurred in Munich" but said to put them on the same footing as the new Israeli raids would be "condoning the aggressive policy of the Israeli maniacs."

Chinese Ambassador Huang Hua, presiding over the council for the first time since Peking entered the world organization late last year, also referred to

"the unfortunate incident" in Munich but then said that the Palestinians and other Arabs had been "compelled to take up arms ... to recover their homelands" from Israel.

Ambassadors Haissam Kelani of Syria and Edouard Ghorra of Lebanon, who had asked for the meeting, registered dissatisfaction. Ghorra said he was "deeply disappointed" by the U.S. veto and could not let the matter rest. But both he and Kelani called the resolution that failed too weak.

The resolution, sponsored by Somalia, Guinea and Yugoslavia, noted "the deteriorating situation in the Middle East" and called on "the parties concerned to cease immediately all military operations and exercise the greatest restraint."

Adjourning the meeting, President Huang said the Security Council still had before it the Syrian and Lebanese complaints against the Israeli attacks and he would consult the other members on when to meet again.

In Israel, the start of the Jewish New Year was celebrated quietly in the wake of the heaviest Israeli air attacks against the Arab guerrillas since the 1967 war. The Israeli armed forces remained on the alert.

Li. Gen. David Elazar, the Army chief of staff, warned during a television appearance that more terrorist attacks could be expected. He said they would be met by further counterattacks. The Israeli raids, he said, were in retaliation not only for the Munich massacre but also for a rising wave of attacks against Israel's borders with Syria and Lebanon.

Replying to Arab claims that numerous civilians were killed in the raids, Elazar said: "We make every effort to avoid hurting civilians, but many terrorist bases are situated in the vicinity of civilian settlements. It is, therefore, unfortunately impossible always to avoid harming civilians."

Syria said its casualties in the Friday bombings were the heaviest since the 1967 six-day war—200 killed and scores wounded. The Lebanese government said 18 persons were killed and 31 wounded by Israeli air action against its territory.

Meanwhile, in Brussels, a gunman believed to be an Arab wounded an Israeli diplomat Sunday night in a Brussels cafe, the Israeli Embassy reported today.

The embassy said Zakou Ophir, 42 was hit by five bullets in the liver, ear and shoulder. It said he was operated on but was not out of danger.

He was shot by a man who gave his name as Mohammad Rabah, the embassy said. The Israeli State Radio said he might be a Moroccan.

German Police Arrest Three Arabs

MUNICH (AP) — Three Arabs, one a woman, were taken into custody in the past two days while trying to leave Munich by plane. German police announced today as they continued to probe the Arab terrorist raid on the Olympic Village.

Police said the names of the three had been found in the pockets of the five Arab guerrillas killed Tuesday night in the gun battle in which the Israeli hostages died.

Police emphasized that they had no other evidence linking the three to the Arab raid.

The names of the three were not disclosed.

German border police were making a tight security check of all passengers going through Munich Airport on this final day of the Olympics. All were searched, those traveling on domestic as well as international flights.

The police indicated that they thought a report of shots at the Olympic Village Sunday night was a false alarm.

The police called off their search for a gunman after combing the athletes' residential area all night with dogs. Detectives said they found no spent bullets, no empty cartridge and no other evidence that any shots had been fired.

Strong police reinforcements were rushed into the village Sunday night amid fears of another terrorist attack like the one Tuesday in which 11 Israelis, five Arabs and one Munich policeman were killed.

As during Tuesday's tragedy, conflicting reports and rumors flooded into the Olympic press center across the campus from the Olympic Village.

Stories and photos of Olympic Games ... See Page 15.

Munich police gave this version of Sunday night's activity: Five shots were fired. A gunman was seen firing from a spiral staircase outside the quarters of the Moroccan team. The gunman got away. No casualties were found.

A police official suggested that it "could have been an evil practical joke."

About the time the shots were heard, a 17-year-old Austrian fell to his death from a flagpole near the village while apparently trying to steal an Olympic flag. Hans Klein, the head of the Olympics' press section, said the death absolutely was not connected with the shooting.

Another Olympic official said the shots were heard in the area of the French quarters — where, about that time, the French were toasting their 1,660-meter relay team's bronze medal with champagne.

"Champagne bottles go pop, as everyone knows," one of the Frenchmen commented.

The shots also were supposed to have been heard near the Soviet quarters, but "the Russians heard nothing," an Olympic spokesman said.

Some newsmen, however, saw police swarm into the Russian area. Several photographers were roughed up by security guards, and their press credentials were taken away as they attempted to take pictures in that area.

The German government announced meanwhile that autopsies of the nine slain Israeli hostages showed the Arab terrorists shot all of them as they sat tied and blindfolded in the two helicopters at an air base near Munich.

There had been speculation that the German sharpshooters might have hit some of the hostages while shooting at the Arabs. But the spokesman said the autopsy showed the Arabs apparently killed the hostages moments after the sharpshooters opened fire.

CASTING A VETO—U.S. Ambassador George Bush raises his hand as the U.S. casts its second veto in United Nations history to frustrate an African measure calling for a simple cessation of military operations in the Middle East without reference to the Munich massacre of Israeli Olympic athletes. Tho Flies to Paris, But . . .

Kissinger Meets With Reds

MOSCOW (AP) — Henry Kissinger began meetings with Soviet officials today, but speculation that he would also talk peace with Le Duc Tho of North Vietnam collapsed when Tho flew on to Paris.

The North Vietnamese said on his arrival in the French capital that he had not seen Kissinger in Moscow, but he did not rule out an early meeting with him in Paris.

"You will know in a few days," he told newsmen.

Kissinger, President Nixon's advisor on national security, arrived Sunday. He told newsmen that "We are here to continue talks," an apparent reference to Nixon's meeting with the Russians in May.

But one of the five aides with Kissinger was John Negroponte, a former member of the Paris peace talks delegation who is fluent in Vietnamese.

Vietnam War stories on Page 24.

Tho arrived in the Soviet capital Saturday on his way back to Paris. He is a member of the North Vietnamese Politburo and has met repeatedly with Kissinger in Paris.

The North Vietnamese would not comment on the possibility of meeting Kissinger here.

During the American's three-day stay, he is to meet with Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist party boss, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

U.S. officials said they would review Soviet-American relations, including European security, Vietnam, the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks and trade.

Kissinger stopped in West Germany en route and briefed Chancellor Willy Brandt. He also extended Nixon's condolences for the Arab attack last week on the Israeli Olympic team.

German sources said Brandt in turn briefed Kissinger on talks between West and East Germany on normalizing relations.

Meanwhile, in Saigon, the Viet Cong issued a new peace statement today saying it is "prepared to accept a provisional government of national concord that shall be dominated by neither side."

U.S. sources in Saigon interpreted this as a concession that neither side can win the war militarily. But Viet Cong and North Vietnamese spokesmen have said repeatedly in the past—for public consumption, at least—that the coalition government they proposed would be a coalition of equals, with none of the factions dominating.

Vandals Hit Perrines Park

By JEAN F. DOLAN

RIFTON — Weekend vandalism at Perrines Bridge mini-park has prompted the offering of a $100 reward for apprehension of the culprits and a stiffening of patrol measures.

The restored covered bridge and its adjacent mini-park have been the target of vandals on numerous occasions in the recent past. Over the weekend one table was tossed into the Walkkil River and another table was broken.

Michael Sweeney of the Highland State Police told The Freeman today that there was evidence also of earlier vandalism to the bridge structure and obscenities had been carved into the wood.

John Grady, president of the Perrines Bridge Committee, said today that a $100 reward is being offered for information leading to the apprehension of those responsible for the acts. He added that definite hours for the park will be set from sunrise to sunset and that anyone on the premises after that time will be trespassing.

Sgt. Sweeney said that State Police patrols will be increased.

in the area. Town of Esopus Constable Joseph Feraca has promised to assign regular tours of duty at the bridge park after dark.

The 128-year-old span and the recently added mini-park have been the object of repeated vandalism in the past. In 1968, the entire structure was threatened by fire. Inflammable liquid was poured on the wooden plank flooring and set afire, according to police report at the time. Only prompt action by the Rifton Fire Company volunteers saved the historic structure from extinction.

The major restoration project at the bridge was started in 1968 through cooperative financing of the County Legislature and the State Historic Trust after the Perrines Bridge Committee spearheaded efforts to save the span.

The parking area and picnic site was developed on property made available by the Culinary Society of New York and Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp.

Vandalism continued at the site however and earlier this year a work project under the county's Emergency Employment Program sought to repair the damage and prevent further defacing acts.

According to Grady the current attack will necessitate repair to tables, replacement of bridge boards and recovery if possible of the water bound table which floated downstream toward the Dashville dam and is now marooned at an inaccessible site.

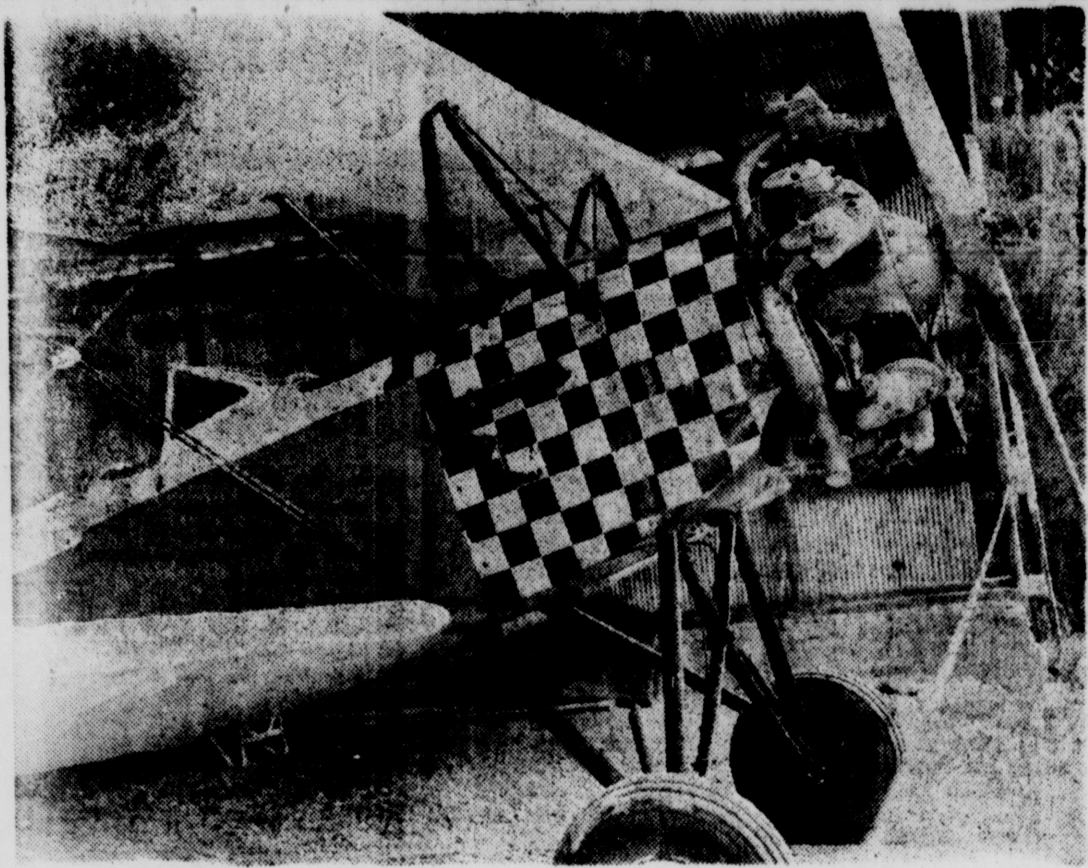

One of the oldest covered bridges in New York State, Perrines Bridge was built in 1844. It is a prime example of our Truss construction and as such is considered of historic and aesthetic value.

Firemen received the first call at 5:08 p.m. and went to the building at 672 Broadway, where they found heavy smoke coming from the rear of the top floor. Told that there were people trapped on the third floor

KINGSTON — Four persons, including a 14-year-old boy juvenile were cited Sunday night by detectives on charges involving narcotics after a search warrant was executed at an apartment at 144 Cedar Street. Police also arrested a 21-year-old man on drugs counts as the result of another incident. A total of 13 persons were cited over the weekend.

Meanwhile, Rhinebeck State Police reported the arrest Saturday afternoon of a 23-year-old Tennessee man on a narcotics charge.

Following a search at the Cedar Street apartment police said was occupied by Michael Mentessi, 22, he and John DeWitt, 22, of 28 Liberty Street, and a 16-year-old youth were arrested along with a 14-year-old boy.

Mentessi was charged with criminal possession of dangerous drugs sixth degree — marijuana and hashish. DeWitt was cited on a charge of loitering first degree. The 16-year-old youth was charged with loitering first degree and criminal possession of a narcotic implement — a corn cob pipe with a metal screen inserted in it. The bowl of the pipe contained burned residue allegedly marijuana or hashish, police said.

The 14-year-old boy, whose name is withheld because of his age, allegedly had marijuana and hashish when he was taken in custody. He will face charges of loitering and possessing drugs in Family Court, police said.

Police said Mino allegedly had in his possession marijuana.

Rhinebeck State Police arrested Samuel Shull, 23, of McMinnville, Tenn., Saturday afternoon during a routine check on Route 9 in the Town of Rhinebeck. Shull was arraigned before Town Justice Herman Tietjen and was committed to the Dutchess County jail in lieu of $3,000 bail pending a hearing.

State Police said Shull was specifically charged with criminal possession of dangerous drugs third degree after authorities allegedly found him in possession of more than three ounces of marijuana.

Five persons were arrested Saturday morning by New Paltz village police and charged with sixth degree possession of a dangerous drug (marijuana).

Arrested were the driver of the car in which the five were riding, John A. Scaglione, 23, of Brooklyn. He and passengers Robert L. Castellano, 31, of New York City, Alicja Weslowska, 28, of New York City, and Wilhelmina Vanderlee, 25, of Woodside, L.I., were all charged with one count of possession. Another passenger, Richard C. Nesi, 30, of Brooklyn, was charged with two counts of sixth degree possession.

Klein, Salinger Trade Charges

BOLTON LANDING, N. Y. (AP) — Herbert Klein, the White House communications director, says President Nixon's credibility problems have been "solved" and that what he calls "the McGovern waltz" is the meeting of the New York State Associated Press Broadcasters Association.

Salinger accused the Nixon administration of suppressing the news and carefully insulating itself "against the legitimate questions of the American people." Klein declared that "the biggest question of the campaign is where does the McGovern waltz stand." He said the "McGovern waltz" was a symptom of the Democratic presidential candidate's "desire to dance around the process of decision."

"During a period in our nation's life in which a president must make dozens of hard decisions daily, and then have the courage to stand behind them, the McGovern Waltz is more of a hesitation step," Klein said.

Salinger, co-chairman of Citizens for McGovern-Shriver, charged the tradition of a free press has been gravely endangered by the policies of President Nixon.

"The Pentagon Papers suppression is only the most salient example of the heavy hand which an insensitive administration applies to the news media," he said.

He criticized the Justice Department's support for efforts to subpoena newsmen who have based stories on corruption, the drug traffic and other subjects on interviews with confidential sources. Such subpoenas represent an attempt "to invade the confidential relationship that exists between the newsmen and his source," Salinger declared.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's "sustained, often violent criticism of the press is basically an attempt to bully the news media into a change of attitude," said Salinger.

The former newspaperman and press secretary to the late President Kennedy said the Nixon "administration of advertising men" seeks "to manipulate opinion, not inform the public."

In answer to questions after his speech, Salinger said Sen. George McGovern may announce in October the names of a few more potential Cabinet members. McGovern has already said he would like Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., to serve as secretary of the treasury.

At Albany County Airport Sunday, Klein again attacked McGovern's credibility.

He admitted there was some credibility question involved in the White House role in the cancelled visit to Hanoi by James Hoffa, the paroled labor leader.

But he said whatever credibility problems Nixon might have had have been "solved" because "the President has told the truth."

McGovern Leading Shaky Command Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — When political campaign organizations are functioning smoothly, they don't show. And Sen. George McGovern's has been showing.

That is why the McGovern headquarters is drawing so much attention, despite the insistence of the Democratic presidential nominee and his lieutenants that matters of staff and organization don't interest the voters.

His has been a troubled command post since shortly after he won the nomination.

McGovern himself once reprimanded his staff, and announced that he had done so, because an unidentified aide asserted that campaign Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien would be only a figurehead with no real responsibilities.

McGovern said organizational problems are of little interest to anyone but political writers. "For months they talked about how brilliant our organization was," he said. "Now they're saying how clumsy we are."

In the days of his uphill climb through the presidential primaries to the nomination, McGovern's organization did perform brilliantly. It also performed quietly.

That has not been the case of late. Disputes within the McGovern political shop have been breaking out in public. O'Brien himself hinted he might quit as campaign chairman unless something was done to improve what he considered poor coordination, communication and control.

He has since pronounced himself satisfied with the organization and theme of the campaign.

But soon after that problem was resolved, Rep. Frank Thompson of New Jersey resigned as director of the campaign voter-registration drive after a dispute with campaign Manager Gary Hart over control and finances.

Then came the case of Gordon Weil, executive assistant to McGovern and executive director of the campaign, who left the headquarters one day after giving the impression he would not be back, refused to confirm or deny reports he was quitting, and announced a day later that he was staying.

"Speculation about internal campaign matters is of no importance to the voter, nor should it be," Weil said.

But a presidential campaign is part of the process that shapes not only elections, but administrations. The men around a candidate during his campaign are, presumably, men who would play key roles in his administration.

One top McGovern aide acknowledged there is tension within the organization, and sensitivity on the part of early McGovern men as Democratic politicians who earlier had sided with other candidates move into the campaign.

There is nothing unusual about that; it is a strain that affect any national campaign. What is unusual is the amount of open controversy it has generated.

Rapid-Transit System Opens, $1.4 Billion of Tax Funds Used

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The first regional rapid-transit system built in America in 50 years opens today as transportation experts around the world watch to see if the sleek, high-speed trains can lure an automobile-oriented society to rails.

Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) took 15 years to plan, eight years to build and $1.4 billion of tax funds.

It will attempt to do what no other major urban transportation system in the world has done: operate without a deficit through labor-saving automation.

The opening is five years later than originally promised due to BART's history of time-consuming, costly delays.

The 75-mile electrified rail system, which includes a 3.6-mile tubular tunnel under San Francisco Bay, will connect San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley and Richmond with six outlying suburban cities.

Ceremonies today mark the opening of a 28-mile link from Oakland to Fremont, with eight aerodynamic cars speeding between 12 stations.

The rest of the plush, computer-operated system is scheduled to open in stages through next summer.

Centered in Oakland, BART radiates in four directions with elevated, surface and underground tracks. Passengers entering one of 34 lavish stations will be greeted by murals and will buy magnetically coded tickets from electronic turnstiles.

They will ride in air-conditioned trains designed to reach a top speed of 80 miles per hour and to average 45 m.p.h. A computer at headquarters here can adjust speeds automatically if the trains get off schedule. Attendants riding up front will be needed only in an emergency.

The system is designed to carry as many as 28,800 persons an hour — equivalent to the volume of rush-hour traffic on 10 lanes of freeway. Planners hope it will provide an alternative to city traffic tie-ups and automobile commuting.

BART has been plagued with a history of delays, strikes and rising costs. Originally, BART was budgeted at $1 billion, but mishaps and inflation have pushed the price up 42 per cent to $1.4 billion.

School Set to Open

GARDINER

The new Mid-Hudson Montessori School for children from 30 months to six years of age begins Wednesday, Sept. 13, in the Gardiner Reformed Church. The new school, the first Montessori method school in the New Paltz-Gardiner area, was founded by Miss Esther Bushman, a certified Montessori teacher.

Miss Bushman has announced that an open house for parents of enrolled children and parents contemplating enrolling a child in the school will be held from 8 to 10 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 12. Interested parents can contact her by telephoning the school or by writing to Box 162, Gardiner.

The new school will be operated in line with the theories and teachings of Dr. Maria Montessori, who originated the method in her native Italy. Montessori schools are found around the world today and there are over 1,000 in the United States alone.

Miss Bushman graduated from Ohio State University with a bachelor of arts degree in psychology and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. She received her Montessori diploma from the International Montessori Training Center at Ravenhill Academy, Philadelphia, Pa.

Hussein Marked as No. 1 Target

WASHINGTON — The Black September terrorists, who were behind the Olympic massacre, have marked Jordan's King Hussein as their No. 1 assassination target. They hope to kill him on one of his trips abroad.

They take their name from September 1970, a black month on their calendar, when King Hussein's forces crushed the Palestinian guerrillas and drove them out of Jordan. They have sworn revenge.

The Central Intelligence Agency, indeed, has linked the Black September terrorists to al Fatah, the main Palestinian guerrilla organization. They reportedly belong to a secret assassination arm of Fatah's intelligence service.

Whether Fatah's leader, Yasser Arafat, controls the Black September group is disputed. He has disavowed any responsibility for the terrorists. But the CIA has received "reliable" information that Black September is merely a cover for Fatah's assassination arm. The CIA got wind of the assassination plot against King Hussein from inside Fatah's intelligence service, which goes by the name Jihaz al Rasd.

Murder Plot
Warns a secret CIA report: "Fakhri al Amari, who is chief of the special services section of Rasd, which is responsible for assassination, kidnappings, sabotage and other acts of terrorism, was still working on his plan to 'get' King Hussein of Jordan the next time the latter travels outside Jordan . . .

Part of the plan involves one al Husayni, who is a captain and a pilot for Royal Jordanian Airlines, who many times has piloted the king's plane when the king has traveled abroad.

"Husayni's role is to provide Rasd with intelligence on the exact flight data when the king next flies, including Amman take-off time and any planned stops en route. This information is needed for a possible backup emergency attempt, if Rasd discovers that the primary plan has been leaked. Husayni is also to provide the king's estimated time of arrival at the destination and is to tell Rasd in advance whether Husayni will be flying on that particular out-of-country trip or not."

Because the king was expected to visit Paris, the plot on his life became known, at first, as the "Paris plan." The trip, however, never took place and the terrorists are still waiting for their opportunity.

Priestly Disguise
Terrorists dressed as Muslim or Christian priests also are reportedly to be stalking other Jordanian leaders. Declares the CIA: "Fatah's assassination plans are aimed solely at Jordanian ministers, army officers and members of the Royal Hashemite family. It is planned to execute these individuals wherever they may be found abroad in Arab countries, Europe and America."

For this purpose, Fatah has accumulated a number of forged passports which will be used in appropriate countries, i.e., Syrian passports in Egypt, Egyptian or Kuwaiti passports in the Sudan and Gulf passports in Saudi Arabia.

The plans include the adoption of Muslim or Christian priestly disguise to use when appropriate or necessary.

Some 200 trained terrorists, all Fatah members, are reported to belong to the Black September organization. They assassinated Jordan's Premier Wasfi Tal in Cairo last November and, subsequently, made an unsuccessful attempt on the life of Jordan's ambassador to London, Zayed Rifal.

Black September terrorists also have claimed responsibility for sabotaging a West German plant that manufactured parts for the Israeli Air Force, blowing up the oil complex at Trieste, Italy, and murdering five Jordanians who allegedly had been spying on Palestinians in Europe.

The Black September group has also attempted to hijack several Jordanian airliners, once successfully. Last May, four Black September members — two men and two girls — hijacked a Sabena airliner to Tel Aviv. But Israeli security men killed the men and captured the girls.

Egyptian Link
Jordanian authorities have linked Egyptian intelligence with the Black September movement. Five days before the assassination of Wasfi Tal, a top Jordanian security official told the CIA, classified Black September documents "were delivered to Egyptian intelligence officer in Amman Muhammad Abd al Salam for safekeeping."

The Black September terrorists are organized into "brigade" cells, which keep on the move. The chief, Fakhri al Amari, used to have his hideout in Beirut. A few months ago, according to the CIA, he lived in the Zuhayr al Tawit building in the Sabra quarter of Beirut.

This building (was) guarded by a minimum of four armed guards at the downstairs entrance," reported the CIA. "No one was allowed to go up to Amari's top floor flat in the building until the individual first called Amari personally from downstairs."

"Amari then instructed the guards to let the individual enter. Even then, one of the armed guards physically accompanied the visitor to Amari's flat and remained until dismissed by Amari."

U.N. No Peace Path

It becomes increasingly difficult to subscribe to the proposition, once voiced with the solemnity of a politician invoking the deity at a 4th of July rally, that "the United Nations is the world's only hope for peace."

Perhaps out of native idealism, mixed with guilt about this country's failure to support the old League of Nations, Americans have been more susceptible than most to this cliché. Certainly no people has given the U.N. more support, spiritually as well as financially.

Recent events, however, would seem to convince even the most naive that the United Nations is not only not the world's only hope but is not even a good hope—not in the world as it is, as it always has been and as it promises to be for the indefinite future.

Not the least of these events were President Nixon's trips to Peking and to Moscow and the understandings and agreements reached there. These have probably done more for the cause of world peace than anything that has occurred in or out of the United Nations since its founding in 1945.

But in the U.N. itself, in the current session, we have seen Taiwan not only stripped of its representation as the official government of China—which is one thing—but stripped even of recognition as an entity—which is quite another thing.

Communist regimes have the well-known habit of declaring those no longer in favor to be nonpersons. This is the first time that a whole nation has been declared a noncountry.

Speaking of China and of Communists, it is interesting to note that the first veto ever cast by Peking was to prevent the entry of the new nation of Bangladesh.

The self-styled champion of small, "third world" countries gave as classic an example of "great-power chauvinism" as did ever the Soviet Union, against whom the veto was really addressed.

This is all right, of course. The United States has been known to put its own self-interest ahead of a too-tender regard for the interests of small nations.

China's "Realpolitik" veto does, though, chip a rather sizable hole in the argument that the U.N. could never be truly representative or effective until it included the world's most populous nation.

Most discouraging development of all is the approval by the United Nations Colonialism Committee of a resolution recognizing the "inalienable right of the people of Puerto Rico to self-determination and independence."

Although it fell short of demands by Cuba, China and Russia that Puerto Rico be classified outright as a colony of the United States, the resolution is an insult, not only to Americans and Puerto Ricans, but to every other people struggling for identity.

In a referendum conducted in Puerto Rico in 1967 (a referendum is something that has never taken place in Cuba or Tibet or Eastern Europe), the independence movement was defeated by better than 100 to one by those who favored continuation of commonwealth status.

If the votes of those favoring statehood are added, it was more than 160 to one against independence.

The situation has not changed in five years. The two Puerto Rican independence parties combined do not command 5 per cent of the electorate, which is the minimum required for representation in the Legislative Assembly.

That a committee of the United Nations, even if obviously politically motivated, could pass such a resolution in the face of such facts makes a mockery of the principles on which the world body was founded.

RURAL DEVELOPMENT — The Rural Development Act of 1972, signed by President Nixon, authorizes new loans for commercial and industrial development in communities with populations under 10,000. It gives the Farmers Home Administration a new lease on a large range of grants for rural improvement loans, which are doing great work in the small communities of the nation.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Mizz Westwood, there's a group called 'The Watergate Five' here to see you!"

"Who So Proudly We Hail?"

Ray Cromley Says

Dissent in Soviet

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Bits and pieces of information out of Russia these past months suggest dissent is growing.

The evidence is that Soviet security police have the dissenters well under control. But Moscow's increasing concern with internal thought security combined with the growth of what must be termed national chauvinistic groups leagued with the KGB and the Russian army must inevitably stand in the way of a realistic reappraisal with the United States.

The data at hand suggests there will be only those deals in arms, science and economics necessary for survival of the Soviet establishment and essential if the U.S.S.R. is to hold its own in world competition.

Thought control is on the increase. More instances are reported in which prominent men are arrested in secret, tried in secret and silently shipped off to a prison camp or insane asylum — all this accomplished in days before friends and families can mobilize protests.

There are more reports of KGB raids on intellectuals, the confiscation of forbidden manuscripts and the backyard strong-arming of the educated. There are also reports that these crackdowns may be increasing the number of dissidents.

There is no evidence that regime is in trouble. The opposition is largely composed of intellectuals, emotionally strongly against police oppression of ideas, but hopelessly divided on what should be done.

A recent spate of studies by American scholars suggest the intellectuals by and large are ignorant of what is actually happening in the Soviet Union and how the government operates. They are likewise ignorant of how other governmental systems (such as democracy) function in practice.

In the main, with some notable exceptions, they are fearful of what the regime will do to their careers and their families. Because of these factors, the protests have thus far made little headway despite the occasional publicity given the underground writings of the protesters, the infrequent public trials and open protests.

The government also is faced with dilemma: It has not been willing to return to the massive purges of Stalin's day, when more than a million party members were arrested, with fewer than 50,000 ever coming out of prison alive, according to Academician Andrei Sakharov.

There is a feeling among some American students of the Soviet intellectual underground that so long as the Brezhnev regime is unwilling to go back to the Stalin type terror, it will not be able to prevent the steady growth of the dissent.

For one thing, the government is caught in a box. Some of the strongest dissenters are brilliant physical scientists, irreplaceable in their jobs, and badly needed in Moscow's military, scientific and economic development plans. To jail these men for long terms would be counterproductive.

For another, an accused intellectual passes his papers on to his friends, if he can, before the police arrive. There seem to be more than enough willing hands to circulate banned novels, poems and reports of police suppression.

Novels such as George Orwell's "1984" get all the greater and more appreciative audiences for being confiscated — and for being read in handwritten or typed copies smuggled from man to man.

He does not wish to dwell on the truth that the tiny plankton of the sea traps the sun's energy through photosynthesis. One thousand pounds of plankton fed to small fish produces 100 pounds of bait, which, when devoured by larger fish, produces 10 pounds of fish for man.

Ten pounds of fish will give man one pound of weight. The weight loss in each successive stage is 10-to-1. A good steak is no more than a lot of grass and grain fed to a steer. Man himself is no more than an assortment of proteins, starches and sugars.

He will not husband the resources placed in his planetary bank because he cannot think beyond his personal greedy life. He strives for what he thinks of as security — his personal health, safety, and affluence. The most enriched soil is in his elaborate cemeteries. Ecology is a dull word indeed.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Man's Overdrawn on Earth

Ecology is a dull word. It was invented only a hundred years ago by combining two Greek words meaning "study of the home." Man's home is the Earth. A combination of natural greed and ignorance has caused Man to destroy part of what he refers to as "Nature."

Twenty years ago, Fairfield Osborne, author of "Our Plundered Planet," told me that it requires a thousand years to grow one square inch of top soil. Our bulldozers plow it under roads and developments by the millions of tons. No one bothers to save the top eight inches of earth.

And yet, without it we die. No vegetables, no grass for cattle, no watersheds will live. Ninety per cent of the wealth of the world is spread around the North Atlantic basin — and 90 per cent of the destruction, too.

When this planet was fashioned as a ball of mud in the hands of God, it became the First National Bank of Man. In it were deposits of all things he would need to survive — oil, gas, coal, copper, gold, water, top soil, vegetation, seed, animals, fish, air.

All of these deposits have been withdrawn and spent at an alarming rate. Man farmed the richest crops over and over; until he exhausted the soil and it was carried off to sea by the wind. He invented machinery and the parts require oil, so he drained and drained until now he requires 250,000-ton tankers to bring oil from faraway places.

Almost everything he does upsets the balance of nature, and this may be part of the grand scheme for his downfall. He cut the timber in valleys and highlands and is subject to floods. In his wisdom, he invented dams to restrain the water.

The Kansas farmer who shoots a crow is a fool. The crow lives on corn borers, which destroy a crop. Industrial wastes destroy streams, lakes and fish on the continental shelf.

If, in the abuse of this dull word ecology, one can predict the final living things, it will be Man, the Norwegian rat, and the housefly. All else will be dead — the seas will stink with trillions of floating dead fish; the land will be bare and bleak, except for bleached bones.

The sun has been placed at precisely the correct distance to support the 1,300,000 types of animals and plants on this earth. It is 93,000,000 miles away, a gaseous ball of controlled hydrogen explosions. It sends light and heat within the range of 60 degrees Fahrenheit to plus 130.

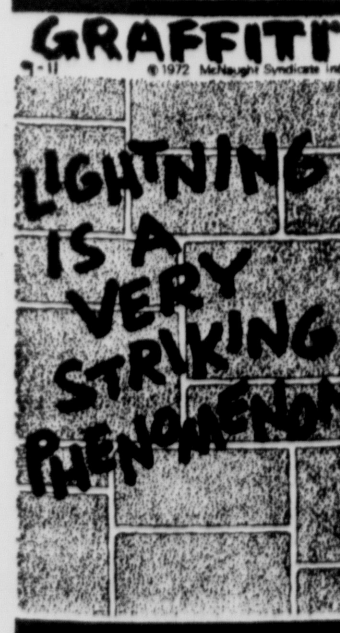

If it were one per cent farther away, or closer, man and the animals would freeze or fry. Man has learned to imitate the sun — he, too, can make hydrogen bombs. He may, if he chooses, light up his environment for a millionth of a second.

He tries to induce a false rainfall by seeding clouds, but he cannot predict with accuracy the weather tomorrow. He fattens cattle artificially and is stunned to learn that the fattening agent may be cancer-inducing. His automobiles, his factories pollute the air he breathes and his lungs are racked with coughing.

Man has learned to fly himself to a small neighboring sphere called the moon (at $450 million per shot) but he permits one billion of his brothers to starve slowly and painfully. To counteract this, he has not planted more food, but rather, invented a pill to prevent himself from overrunning the earth.

Two-thirds of his firmament is water, but he has made only the most superficial study of it. He fishes it, sails on it, sinks ships in it, spills

Batik Show Opens Today at Ulster Library

TOWN OF ULSTER
Continuing its policy of showing art work, the Town of Ulster Library will have the batik work of Sonja Huppert of Woodstock on display for September.

This mother of five young energetic children has combined time and talent into one of the oldest forms of art, being an ancient art of Java, Indonesia and pieces unearthed in the tombs of Egypt.

It is time consuming because it consists of drawing an idea on Bristol board copying it in India ink on silk or sometimes cotton material. Parts of the pattern are dyed, that part not wished colored at that time are covered with liquid wax, the wax removed and that section dyed with wax again being placed on sections. Sometimes to tone the work down it is dipped in color remover, all of which sounds pretty tricky to the listeners, but the results are outstanding and Sonja Huppert has found appreciative viewers in the fact that she has been selling her larger pieces.

She started five or six years ago, and has studied with Anton Refregier, Bernard Steffan and Robert Angelson. This summer found her busy exhibiting as well as teaching the art at Camp Greenfields, West Hurley.

Besides showing at the Ulster Library's Art Show in June, her work was displayed at the Ulster County Fair, New Paltz Gallery, Honeysuckle House, Patterson, N.J.; in October she will have a showing in Pawling. The exhibit opened today, Sept. 11 and continue through the month. Library hours are Monday through Saturday 2:5 p. m., 7:9 p. m.; Friday, 2:5 p. m. and Saturday 10 a. m. to 2 p. m.

Continuous compounding —
higher annual yields
on your savings.

Heritage Savings Bank compounds interest continuously on all savings accounts. This method, made possible by federal regulations, allows depositors more earnings per year, if interest is left to accumulate in the account.

The rates are the same and the highest allowed by law. The change is the continuous compounding of interest every second of every day of the year. At Heritage Savings Bank, your effective annual yield is now greater than ever before.

Introducing Shop-Rite's TRUE VALUE/ONE PRICE MEAT DEPARTMENT

Shop-Rite Introduces a New Consumer Breakthrough. The True Value/One Price Meat Department. Now you can get top quality meat the way you like it — at no extra charge. Think what this means to the budget-minded shopper. You may prefer certain cuts of meat sliced extra thick for roasting or potting . . . extra thin for broiling or pan-frying. At some stores you expected to pay more for certain meat cuts — and usually did! Not at Shop-Rite! At Shop-Rite's True Value/One Price Meat Department a chicken is a chicken no matter how you cut it — the same price split, quartered, or whole! So if you're looking for top quality meats at economical supermarket prices (and who isn't!), start saving at Shop-Rite's True Value/One Price Meat Department today!

TRUE VALUE POULTRY

Tips on how to save money on food often include instructions and diagrams on cutting a whole chicken into halves or quarters. That's because split or quartered fryers generally cost more per pound — and frying a whole chicken is a bit awkward. Well, you no longer need "butcher" training to stretch your budget. Shop-Rite introduces True Value/One Price Chickens . . . WHOLE, SPLIT or QUARTERED FRYERS — ONE PRICE ONLY Why Pay More?

DEAR ABBY: Regarding marriages between Baptists and Catholics: I am a practicing attorney, and I handle many divorce cases. For the past 10 years I have kept a record of the number of divorces between couples of mixed religions, and my records show that 6 out of 10 marriages between Baptists and Catholics end in divorce. I don't know the reason, but thought you'd be interested in the statistics. Being a small-town lawyer, I would appreciate your keeping my identity confidential as I would not want to lose the divorce trade between Baptists and Catholics. Best wishes from
A GALVESTON, TEX. AT-TORNEY

DEAR ATTORNEY: Altho your mini survey on Baptist-Catholic divorces is hardly representative of the nation, if 4 out of 10 marriages make it in Galveston, you're doing better than the state of California, where I'm told they had more divorces last year than marriages!

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for stating that a return address on a sympathy card was indeed proper. It is also very helpful to the elderly who must acknowledge a stack of condolence messages, which is not an easy task with tear-filled eyes. How well I know.

IOWA GRANNY
DEAR ABBY: A female requested opinions from male readers regarding how they feel about women with false teeth. Abby, you gave her the most intelligent advice I ever read. "Keep your mouth shut." But you failed to explain why. The reason being, "Many false words are spoken thru false teeth."

Sincerely,
A LUCKY DEAF MALE
DEAR LUCKY: And many true words are spoken thru false teeth. And many false words are spoken thru real teeth. So what have teeth to do with the veracity of one's words?

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion on the hassle some merchants give their customers about their personal checks. My husband tells me that I feel offended by them because I grew up in a small mid-western town (10,000 population) where everyone knew everyone else.

I can understand why they ask for proper identification, and refuse checks on distant banks, but I become irate when a salesman starts to sweat and turn pale the minute I reach for my check-book. You would think I had pulled a gun on him!

If a customer were to ask for a written guarantee that the $30 dress she bought would not fall apart in the washer, the store manager would probably throw her out. I say that the merchant is offering a service to the public when he opens his doors for business, and should show the customer some respect at the check cashing counter.

You could hand most clerks a $20 bill with a picture of George Washington on it, and they would smile, accept it, and say, "Come back again." But when you try to pay with a perfectly good check, you are made to feel like a criminal. Why?

DEAR IRATE: If you had been stuck with as many bad checks as some merchants, you wouldn't ask why.

DEAR ABBY: Have you or any of your readers ever heard of a floral offering being returned to the sender by the family of the deceased?

Ours was returned to us a few days after the funeral with the explanation that they were keeping only "real" flowers. (Ours were artificial, but they were beautiful.)
DEAR NAMELESS: This is a "first." It's difficult to believe that anyone could be so ignorant and unfeeling as to return any kind of floral offering for any reason.

DEAR ABBY: Please pass this on to the women who are obviously pregnant when their last child is still in diapers. They are frequently asked by surprised friends, "Pregnant again?" I'd reply, smilingly, "No. I'm just carrying this for a friend."

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
© 1972 Emily Post Institute, Inc.

Dear Mrs. Post:

Last year in June and again in August, I was in the hospital, each time for two weeks. I received gifts and flowers from the ladies in the neighborhood and from my church. They were so nice and brought food to the family. We appreciated everything very much and tried to thank everyone personally, and yet I wanted to send each a written "thank you," which I did. At least I thought I did.

Yesterday, to my horror, I found all those "thank you" notes in with the cards I had received. I really do not understand how they missed being taken to the mailbox, but for all this time I felt secure in the knowledge that I had done the right thing, and now — what do I do? I am in a quandary as to what is the proper thing to do, if anything.

I would appreciate any helpful suggestions you might have.

MRS. JACKSON
Dear Mrs. Jackson: What an embarrassing situation! You have my sympathy.

If it was only the card-senders, not the food, gift, and flower-givers, who did not receive their thanks, I wouldn't worry about it. They have undoubtedly forgotten about it, and you will only remind them if you bring it up now. But if any of your misplaced notes were thanks for a more substantial effort, you should take steps to remedy your mistake. Send the cards now with an explanatory note, making it as amusing — and apologetic — as you can.

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is a widow. She is planning to remarry and will be married by a judge. What would be the proper amount to give him? He is not a friend of the couple.

MRS. C. D.
Dear Mrs. D.: Before the ceremony, the couple should ask the judge if there is a set fee for performing the marriage ceremony. If so, no additional gift is necessary.

If the judge does not charge for his services, the groom should ask if he would accept a small gift by way of "thanks." Unless the judge refuses firmly, the groom should then give him an envelope containing ten dollars.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that I receive each week, I will send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Daily Freeman, and don't forget to include your name and address.

Activities Announced
The fall and winter meetings of the Sisterhood of Agudas Achim were resumed with a board meeting September 6 at the home of Mrs. Herman Schneider. Mrs. Robert Selinger presided. Among the items discussed were a rummage sale to be held October 23-25, the breaking of the fast preparations, and a tentative New Year's eve party.

A moment of silence was observed because of the recent Israeli tragedy at the Olympic games in Munich, Germany. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Herman Schneider. The next regular meeting is scheduled for October 11.

"I urge you to protect your family with this extra cash plan"

Art Linkletter

Send no money—just mail Enrollment Form to start your coverage of up to

$800.00 a month extra cash

$26.67 a day when you go to the hospital for any covered accident or illness

NO AGE LIMIT • NO SALESMAN WILL CALL • BENEFITS START THE FIRST DAY YOU'RE HOSPITALIZED.

Start Protection At No Charge

We have a great family insurance policy for you. It pays at the rate of $800.00 a month for adults—$26.67 a day—for as long as you stay in the hospital for any covered accident or illness. It also pays at the rate of $480.00 a month—$16.00 a day—for your covered children.

If you're 65 or over, you're paid $560.00 a month in benefits, but only for your first three months in the hospital. From then on, you collect full benefits of $800.00 a month.

To attract as many new policyholders as possible, we offer you coverage without charge, while you're inspecting your policy. The National Home policy has very few ifs, and's or buts. You can understand it in just a few minutes. There's a chance that someone in your family will go to the hospital this year. If it happens to you, you'll find our benefits a godsend.

Extra Cash Paid Direct

This money is paid directly to you—not to any doctor or hospital. If you have bills to pay, you decide who gets paid first. If you're free and clear, you can put the money in the bank. And furthermore, our lawyers tell us this money is free from income taxes.

Regular Hospitalization Insurance May Not Be Enough

Do you have group insurance where you work? A Blue Cross Hospitalization Plan? A Blue Shield Medical Plan? Major Medical? Or are you on Medicare? You'll find, when you go to the hospital, that some policies like these may not pay all of your bills.

Our policy will pay you up to $26.67 a day for some of the expenses your other insurance may not cover when you are hospitalized.

Take Medicare. When you are hospitalized there is a $68.00 Hospital deductible and a $50.00 Medical deductible. Then there is 80-20 co-insurance on the Medical portion of your hospital bill (they pay 80% of the bill and you pay 20%). Finally, there are maximum allowances for each type of medical service. If a doctor charges more than the allowance—as many do—you have to pay the difference.

Our policy will help to pay for some of these expenses.

This National Home Policy Never Runs Out

If you were hospitalized today, would you know what your hospital coverage pays? Would you know if your present policies have a maximum benefit... a 1 to 2 year time limit... or any other such limiting features? Because some policies have these limitations... what would a long hospital stay do to your finances?

Our policy, however, pays you cash at the rate of $800.00 a month ($26.67 a day) even for the rest of your life, if need be.

Here's what we pay

(over and above Medicare and all other insurance)
If you're under 65

$800.00 a month—$26.67 a day—when you go to the hospital, starting from the very first day of confinement for any covered accident or illness. Payments continue as long as you are hospitalized—for life if necessary.

—PLUS—

$480.00 a month cash—$16.00 a day—when a covered child (one month through 18 years) goes to the hospital for any covered accident or illness. Payments continue as long as the child is in the hospital.

All your premiums after you, the policyholder, have been confined by a covered hospitalization for 8 weeks in a row. We pay the premiums for your entire family plus your monthly benefits until you leave the hospital. We pay them for life if necessary.

If you're 65 or older $560.00 a month cash—$18.66 a day—when you go to the hospital for any covered accident or illness, starting from the very first day of confinement. Payments continue for three months, then become...

$800.00 a month cash—$26.67 a day—for as long as you're hospitalized—for life if need be.

—PLUS—

$480.00 a month cash—$16.00 a day—when a covered child (one month through 18 years) goes to the hospital—the same benefit as for policyholders under 65.

All your premiums after you, the policyholder have been confined by a covered hospitalization for 8 weeks in a row—the same benefit as for policyholders under 65.

Here's what we don't pay

You are not covered for care in U.S. Government hospitals or nursing, convalescent, rehabilitation or extended care, alcoholic or narcotic facilities, a place for the aged, a tuberculosis sanatorium, or for hospitalizations due to:

Dear Friend:

I wouldn't recommend anything I didn't honestly believe in. And I think National Home's $800.00-a-month plan is just about the best additional insurance protection you can give your family -- especially in these days of rising medical costs.

Having been retained by National Home as a marketing consultant, I've looked over the policy very carefully and am happy to give this plan my wholehearted endorsement.

I've made a point of getting to know the folks at National Home, and you won't find more decent, friendly people.

That's why I cannot imagine anybody passing up the chance to enroll in this health plan.

We all know what a terrible thing it is to be hospitalized. But what a relief it is to know there's extra cash coming in when you need it most! Take my advice. Send the enrollment form below now -- before you forget.

Sincerely,

Art Linkletter

NOTE: The regular monthly premium shown (for age and time of enrollment) will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled in this National Home plan, your rate can not be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment on all policies of this class in your entire state. We will issue you only one policy of this class.

No catch to these rates

When you see premiums like these, you'd suspect that the policy is full of clauses that make payouts few and far between. This is not the case.

Look high and low through the provisions set forth in the policy. Let your lawyer or insurance agent help. You'll find no unusual exclusions.

Indeed, we feel that this plan's payout provisions are among the most liberal available. For example:

- We pay benefits on Workman's Compensation cases. Many policies don't.
- We pay benefits for life if necessary. Many policies have a 1-year or 2-year limit.
- We pay up to $26.67 a day starting the first day you're hospitalized, and continuing for as long as you stay.
- We continue your insurance regardless of age. Some policies cancel you after a certain age.
- We excuse you from paying premiums when you are hospitalized longer than 8 weeks in a row. Most policies don't.

How then are these rates possible?

This special plan is offered by National Home Assurance Company of New York which is licensed by the State of New York.

We sell insurance by mail. And administer it by mail. And have cut the cost of contacting you down to postage stamp size.

Your neighborhood letter carrier makes it all possible. He delivers more insurance for your money. And you don't even pay him a commission.

Get Started Now

Most important, though, is that it costs nothing to start your coverage for you and your entire family. Simply fill out and mail the official Enrollment Form. When your policy arrives, study it. It Was the Year of the Rooking in Olympics

By BOB JOHNSON
Associated Press Sports Editor

MUNICH (AP) — "They've been trying to rook the Americans in the Olympics and they've finally done it!" United States basketball star Kevin Joyce fumed.

Whether the word "rooked" is exactly proper is up for grabs—about as much, it seems as the we-won, they-woon basketball game against the Soviet Union which, as far as the United States is concerned, will somehow symbolize these 20th Summer Games.

Technically, although the Russians had already been awarded the gold medal, the outcome of the basketball game—which we won 50-49, then they won 51-50—was still in doubt this morning as the International Olympic Committee reviewed a U.S. protest, only hours before the closing ceremonies commenced.

The U.S. loss of the basketball game—the first in 64 contests since the American-born sport was introduced to the Olympics in the 1936 Berlin Games—was the ultimate blow to the U.S. spirit which had taken a roller coaster ride since these Games began here Aug. 26.

There were, of course, moments of incredible elation. The magnificent Mark Spitz with his seven gold medals led the way as America's aquaduck dominated the swimming.

And there was Sunday's final when Larry Black, Robert Taylor, Gerald Tinker and Eddie Hart blazed America to victory in the 400-meter relays and when Frank Shorter, a Munich-born Yale graduate, became the first U.S. winner of the marathon in 64 years.

But as the thoughts of glory fade away, names like Rick Demont, Vince Matthews and Wayne Collett will linger, along with other distasteful memories.

It was Demont, a 16-year-old swimmer from San Rafael, Calif., who took a medication containing Ephedrine to combat his asthma—and was deprived of the gold medal he'd won in the 400-meter freestyle because U.S. team officials neglected to tell him to change medications since Ephedrine was banned by the IOC.

It was Matthews and Collett, gold and silver medalists in the 400-meter dash, who breached Olympic decorum on the victory stand, chatting and relaxing during the playing of the national anthem, an action which brought out the wrath of the IOC, which barred them from the rest of the Games—and thus kayoed America's entry in the 1,600-meter relays.

There were lesser controversies, too. Some, particularly U.S. boxing Coach Bobby Lewis, felt America's poor showing in the ring—just one gold and three bronzes—was the result of judges who voted on what they saw but on their politics ran. And when Hart and Rey Roberson showed up too late for their qualifying heats in the 100-meter dash, some felt it was the result not of incompetence on the part of U.S. track officials but of noncooperation and schedule mishandling by Olympic organizers.

But it all ends up, as one rather large moot point. What stands out, among other things, is that, after Sunday's competition, the medals race went to the Soviet Union, with a total of 99, including 50 golds. The United States came in second with 33 golds, 30 silvers and 30 bronzes for 93 medals. East Germany was next with 66 medals, 20 of them gold.

The basketball game had all the intrigue and confusion of a Russian-American spy encounter. The United States, trailing the entire game, seemed to have it won when Illinois State's Doug Collins sank two free throws with three seconds remaining.

Russia tossed the ball in, called time out with one second left, then tried a desperation shot that never came close. It was jubilation time for Coach Hank Iba and his kids.

Or was it? Some officials—some say it was a referee, others claim it was Dr. R. William Jones, the British secretary-general of the International Amateur Basketball Federation—ruled that, because of the confusion, Russia still had three seconds left.

So the Russians tossed the ball in again, this time a length-of-the-floor pass to Aleksander Belov, who jutted under two Yanks under the Soviet basket and flipped the ball in for the horn for the deciding points.

"We of the United States," said team manager Herb Moles as the protest was filed, "would like to commend the Russians for their play for 39 minutes and 57 seconds. We have never heard, however, of a game being played for 40 minutes and three seconds."

Joyce, a University of South Carolina senior, provided a glimpse of what was to come. "We voted quickly and unanimously," he said right after the game, "not to take the silver medal since we legally and morally won the gold."

The Yanks stood by their own vote. They boycotted the medal ceremonies. And although the Russians got a few boos and derisive whistles along with their cheers, America was booed loud and long by the spectators when the silvers were "presented" to the vacant U.S. victory stand.

The American relay aces and Shorter took their medals gleefully.

"We are the four fastest humans in the world!" exulted Taylor after he and his team mates had equalled the world and Olympic 400-meter relay record of 38.19 seconds.

Shorter couldn't have been happier about the end of the 26-mile, 385-yard marathon—not only because he'd won it but that it was, in fact, over. "You feel so bad for so long," he said.

The University of Florida law student covered the distance in 2 hours, 12 minutes, 19.7 seconds—then was "beaten" by a West German boy who fooled guards—and a lot of spectators—by trotting into the stadium and around the track.

Shorter made one unscheduled stop along the way, a brief detour at the first refreshment stop. "Some Ethiopian grabbed my soda pop and I had to go for another," he explained.

Finland's Lasse Virin, who had won the 10,000 meters earlier, became a double-gold medalist by winning the 5,000 meters. And another Finn, Pekka Vasala, deprived Kip Keino of a repeat winner in the 1,500 meters, beating the Kenyan by a stride. Steve Prefontaine of Coos Bay, Ore., the leader with barely a lap to go, faded to fourth.

The lone boxing gold medalist was light-welterweight Ray Seales, a 29-year-old Tacoma, Wash., southpaw who got plenty of encouragement from his mother, Belencita, en route to his split-decision victory against Bulgarian Angel Angelov.

"Hit him, hit him!" his mother shouted from her ringside seat in a voice that carried over the cheers of the spectators. "That's it... do it again!"

Seales jabbed well in the first two rounds and decked Angelov with a speedy combination 30 seconds from the end of the second, then the Bulgarian retaliated—but not quite enough—with strong in-fighting in the third round. Seales got the votes of British, Panamanian and Korean judges while judges from Poland and Cuba gave the nod to Angelov.

The three bronzes went to Indianapolis middleweight Marvin Johnson, New York bantamweight Ricardo Carreras and Houston welterweight Jesse Valdez, who had been eliminated in Friday's semifinals.

The last time archery was an Olympic sport was 1920. It couldn't have been reintroduced to the Games at a more opportune time for the United States.

Sayers Hangs Up His Cleats

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

One of the most illustrious names in the history of the game will be among the missing next Sunday when the National Football League's 1,040 players start playing for real.

The tedious seven weeks of exhibition games ended Sunday with five games and the 26 coaches will slice their roster from 44 to 40 players Monday for the start of the 1972 regular season next Sunday.

But the results Sunday were overshadowed by the announcement that Gale Sayers, labeled by George Halas—who has seen them all—as the greatest running back in the history of the game, has retired.

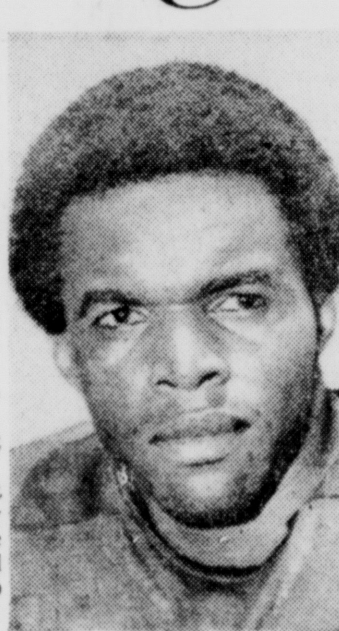

Sayers made his first appearance in an exhibition game this season Saturday night and fumbled twice while carrying only three times in the Chicago

Bears' 33-14 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals. Both fumbles were turned into Cardinal touchdowns.

Sayers, who'd played only two games in each of the last two seasons while trying to come back from his second knee injury, decided after the sorry showing to call it a career at age 29.

"The leg felt fine, but just hitting the astroturf and getting on the leg made it very sore and I felt I'd better give it up," Sayers said. "I hate to leave football, but I know I'm finished and I know I cannot go on this year."

Besides being one of the most brilliant runners in the history of the game, Sayers' fame transcended the pro football world when his close friendship with Brian Piccolo, who died of cancer three years ago, became the subject of a moving

GALE SAYERS

Emmy-award winning TV show, "Brian's Song."

Sayers' retirement spotlights a problem that worries pro football officials—severe injuries. Players of Sayers' caliber create a void in the game when there careers are cut short by unfortunate injuries.

In the final five practice games Sunday, Miami surprised Minnesota 21-19 in a nationally televised game, Baltimore topped Denver 20-13. New England upset Detroit 34-30. The New York Giants edged Cleveland 28-21 and Houston tied New Orleans 14-14.

Exhibition records are misleading but Dallas (6-1) ended up with the best record and three other teams—Washington, San Diego and Pittsburgh—ended with identical 4-1-1 marks.

The disappointing team of the exhibition season had to be Minnesota, which wound up at 3-2 even though the Vikings are generally considered to be the team to beat this year. Mercury Morris, playing in place of ailing Jim Kliek, ran for two touchdowns—including one in the final minute—to lead Miami past the Vikings.

Fran Tarkenton, the new Viking quarterback, could produce only one touchdown as the Vikings stayed in the game on four Fred Cox field goals. But Cox missed a 44-yarder with two seconds left that would have won the game.

Jim Plunkett fired three touchdown passes to lead New England to the surprising victory over Detroit. The Patriots came back from a 17-0 deficit to upset the Lions. It was only Detroit's second win of the exhibition season.

Johnny Unitas, ready for another year at age 39, directed Baltimore to a 20-point first half as the Colts downed Denver, which scored 56 points in its last two games, was held to one touchdown on an 89-yard punt return by Floyd Little.

Running back Charlie Evans ran for four touchdowns to give the Giants the victory over Cleveland. The loss left Cleveland with an 0-6 exhibition record. Frank Pitts scored all three touchdowns for Cleveland, two on passes from Mike Phipps and one from Bill Neisen.

Ward Walsh scored on an 11-yard run with less than a minute remaining to give Houston the tie with New Orleans. Archie Manning threw two touchdown passes in the fourth quarter to account for the Saints' scoring.

New Harmon Sparks UCLA Stunner

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

A new football powerhouse may have been born Saturday and an old one was shaken as unranked UCLA stunned No. 1-rated Nebraska 20-17 and deflated the Cornhuskers' hopes for a second straight National title.

Out of the dust of Nebraska's defeat, UCLA second-year coach Pepper Rodgers saw his newly-installed wishbone offense click like clockwork and his team play with the confidence of a winner.

Rodgers' Bruins humdrummed their way to a poor 2-7-1 record last year but in training camp this summer he promised things would improve with the help of the wishbone and a potential star quarterback to run it, junior college transfer Mark Harmon.

Mark is the son of former Michigan All-America Tom Harmon but if the 6-foot, 185-pound youngster, who celebrated his 20th birthday a week before the biggest triumph of his career, continues to perform as he did against Nebraska, he won't long have to be identified as the son of a football star.

Mark, who said after the game, "I have all the respect in the world for Nebraska but I thought they could be beaten."

Bob Devaney, coach of the Cornhuskers, who saw his team's 21-game winning streak and 32-game undefeated streak ended on a 29-yard field goal by UCLA's Mexican-born soccer-style kicker Elen Herrera with 22 seconds remaining, was understandably depressed after the game.

"They ran their wishbone pretty well," said Devaney, whose team faces perhaps an even more potent wishbone threat this Saturday in a home game against Texas A&M.

Coletti Keeps Seniors Title

WOODSTOCK Philip G. (Phil) Coletti, the prominent Woodstock Country Club mixologist, proved Sunday that a year's layoff hasn't diminished his skills on the fairways.

Playing two under even 5s for 13 holes, Coletti captured his second successive Ulster County Seniors Golf Championship with a score of 63. There was no tournament in 1971.

Coletti, one-time Fordham baseball teammate of Hall of Famer Frankie Frisch, finished three strokes ahead of James A. Dwyer, the 1966 champion. Fabian L. Russell of Twaalfskill, who won the low net trophy with 47, posted 67 and Ted Young, co-champion with Harry Hohnhorst in 1969, had a 69.

Hohnhorst, the eight-time champion, had to withdraw from the tournament after eight holes.

"It's always nice to win that second time," said Coletti during the post-victory celebration at his favorite cocktail lounge. "It makes you feel that the first one wasn't a fluke."

There are some who feel that Coletti is about to launch a dynasty of his own. Still hale and hearty, he figures to be the man to beat for the next several years.

Admitting he expected serious competition from former champions Dwyer and Young and Fabian L. Russell, the Old Ram overcame a shaky start to finish with four straight pars on the first nine for his 43. He then matched Dwyer's 20 strokes for the four holes (1-2-6-9) on the second swing.

The other class winners: Class B (65-69) — Dr. Robert R. Moseley, Twaalfskill, 82; Low Net — Dr. Rodney Ball, Twaalfskill, 66.

Class C (60-64) — Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn, Twaalfskill, in matching cards with Alex Sharpe, Jr., Woodstock, at 78. Low net — tie between Sharpe and Mordecai Berkowitz, Woodstock at 65.

Class D (55-59) — Gerald Overbagh, Wiltwyck, 37-37-74; Low Net — Al Pettinato, Woodstock, 64.

Class E (50-54) — Bill Odeneal, Lake Mohonk, 38-35-73; Low Net — Arnold Pettengill, IBM, 63.

Overbagh's 74 in Class D was the lowest competitive round in his career. He won by five shots over Tony Pizzarelli of Woodstock, whose finishing 34 was the only sub-par nine of the day.

Odeneal put together seven pars, a bogey and a birdie (on No. 14) to edge Doug Sheppard of New Paltz by one stroke for Class E honors. It was, of course, the lowest round of the day.

Injuries Key to Highland High Football Fortunes

By STEVE KANE

HIGHLAND
Everything that goes up must come down. Football is no exception to the adage, a fact Highland High Schools' Lem Atkins is well aware of. "There is no way we can be as good as we were last year. We lost a lot of good players that had been around a couple of years, but we do have some quality kids, and if we stay healthy we should be respectable."

Highland has a lot on the line this season. The defense of the UCAL title and a 15-game winning streak to name a couple, but no one in Big Blue country is looking for miracles. Graduation ravaged the ranks of many fine linemen and the Monroe brothers, and two good juniors from last year's team, Clyde Napier and Ranny Smith, have since moved from the area.

"We're inexperienced," said Atkins, "and we lack last year's size, poise and depth. If we get injuries, we're going to have problems."

Three veterans return this season, all in the line. Guard Tom Gindera, tackle Mike Serini and end Tom Rozzi. That's a small nucleus, but it does give the Highlanders the basis for a solid front wall. With Larry Stokes at center, Larry Roberto at guard, Leonard Countryman at tackle and Harold Hill at end, Highland will have sufficient size across the front to get the job done.

"We look fine," the coach said, "but I don't know how well we'll play."

The backfield presents the biggest question marks for Atkins. Frank Biodato moves into the quarterback slot replacing departed Carlos Rodriguez, and the increase in stature here may improve the aerial game. It may have to: "Our attack will change depending on the situation — we're not going to be able to do what we like all the time."

Tony Caserio and Bob Scortino will run out of the backfield with J.C. Gersh providing the outside threat.

Atkins felt the attitude of the club was good, but the rest will remain unknown until the Big Blue begins the season against the Ganders of Rondout.

"I think the league is generally improved with better balance," he said. "Ellenville has a lot of people back. Red Hook has to be considered highly, and Liberty, with the size, backs and personnel Woody (Witherax) has, is probably the best club in the league. Pine Bush also has numbers, and with the JV teams they've had in past years they've got to show something — they can't hide those juniors forever. I think Walkill will be tough. They have a lot of veterans and could be the real surprise this year."

"How many can you lose? One and you're in trouble. With the team we had last year, look what would have happened if we had lost one. Liberty might do it, yet with the balance there is you might lose two this year."

So the crunch is gone from Highland, and the lean years loom ahead. It's just hard to believe that Lem Atkins and the Big Blue can adjust to losing very quickly.

Optimism Prevails at Rondout

By IRA FUSFELD

STONE RIDGE

Last year's young Rondout Valley High School football team is this year's veteran Rondout Valley High School football team and that's good news for Gander gridiron fans.

"We'll be in it," Coach John "Mickey" Million said cautiously, referring to the Ulster County Athletic League race. "We're a senior team and we should be able to cut down on our mistakes."

It looks like another case of a coach suffering through a losing season with youngsters in hopes of it paying off later. Million's team, woefully weak when it came to scoring points, and only so-so on defense, could manage only three wins in nine tries last year. That was quite a turnaround for a perennially strong school which had posted the most victories of any UCAL eleven over a five-year period.

But the Ganders did show flashes. Even though they were beaten, by Ontario, Rondout picked up 229 yards on the ground. And in defeating Marlboro, the Ganders posted 101 yards in the air.

That first figure may be the key. The team's leading ground gainer, fleet-footed Billy Wilkens, returns as does Tom Elston, one of the county's best track stars. In addition, Million can call on Henry Sherman, Bob Davenport, Dan Shaver, or Dave Bogart to do the job.

The quarterback is Mike Priest. He's a senior, last year's backup to Hyler Van Wagenen, and the only name Million lists at that position. He'll have the horses in the backfield, but they say he can throw.

Thus, the backfield looks very solid. Lo and behold, the line looks good too.

Tennis' Iron Curtain Arrives

By BOB STEWART

UPI Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)

—The Iron Curtain has arrived

in International Tennis —

emphatically.

The victory of Ilie Nastase

of Romania, 3-6, 6-3, 6-7, 6-4, 6-3 over Arthur Ashe in U.S.

Open Tennis Championships

Sunday, coupled with his loss to Stan Smith in five sets at Wimbledon, establishes Ilie as a top world player, and Ilie just could carry his country to the win here in 36 years, never lost his concentration, even when the record throng of 14,696

hoisted at him for his court manners.

Ashe had opened forcefully,

but his game in the second set and through the early stages of the third gave the impression that Nastase was in control. But when they reached the tie

break, Ashe sprang to life and raced through to lead 2-1 in sets

when he took the tiebreak, five points to one.

Yet Nastase was not to be denied. He took the fourth set after beginning badly, losing his service to Ashe in the third game when he opened with a double fault, then missed two

volleys and a cross court forehand. But he came back to square the set in the eighth game, racing to love-40 before

Ashe fought back to deuce,

before bowing out on a wide

forehand and a fine passing shot

by the Romanian. Ilie held serve easily, then broke through for the set, Ashe getting only one point.

In the final set, Nastase got what he needed in the sixth game when Ashe missed a cross court forehand for 30-40 and then was long on a backhand.

Ilie then served out the match,

although Arthur managed to get to deuce in the final game.

Arthur declined to comment much on Nastase's court behavior, although admitting "his manners could be better."

The 29-year-old Ashe said "I didn't serve worth a damn, and

I didn't volley too well either.

In the fourth set I thought I could win it, but Ilie is a superb athlete. He has such quick hands and feet."

Nastase thought his loss at

Wimbledon in the final to Smith was "a tougher match" because he had been more nervous

there. Smith, the defender here, had been put out by Ashe in the quarter finals.

The Romanian protested his innocence of bad manners. "I didn't hit the ball at the linesman or throw my towel at him," he said.

As for his $25,000 check and a new car, he was more worried about the car. He said he might have to open a garage in

Romania to keep his own, the one he won two weeks ago, the one he won Sunday and the one

he hopes to win in California

two weeks from now.

But his sights are set on the

Davis Cup, and the clash in Bucharest will be on clay, a surface he much prefers to the grass he lost on at Wimbledon, and the grass he won on here.

Gotham Schools Are Open With New Guards on Duty

NEW YORK (AP) — The city's 900 public schools opened their doors today to a record influx of 1.16 million pupils as a newly expanded guard force stood ready to handle escalating school security problems.

Schools Chancellor Harvey B. Scribner said Sunday he was hopeful the assignment of 450 security guards to high schools and certain volatile junior highs would enable teachers and administrators to devote "full attention to the job of improving education."

Although the security guards — termed "student-service officers" by school officials — will be able to arrest disruptive students if necessary, their primary function will be to defuse potentially dangerous situations before violence erupts.

The contract just reached between the Board of Education and the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers calls for growth of the security force to 1,200 guards, costing the schools an estimated $6 million a year.

School security had been a touchy issue during negotiations over the new work agreement. Leaders of the teachers' union had pointed to figures showing an increase from 333 incidents of school crime and violence in 1970 up to 580 incidents in 1971.

The Board of Education had initially pressed for stepped-up teacher efforts in patrolling school corridors, but this request was dropped as the board acceded to the UFT's demand for full-time guards.

The new contract is slated for a ratification vote Tuesday by the 60,000 rank-and-file members of the UFT. Union officials have said they expect the teachers will vote to approve the three-year agreement, which provides for 1975 a basic salary scale ranging from $9,200 starting pay to $16,650 for top-seniority teachers.

Enrollment this year in the nation's largest public school system was expected to total 1,161,500 pupils, up 12,626 from the previous high set last fall.

Along with 18 new school buildings, the system will put into operation several new programs, ranging from expanded bilingual instruction to alternative, flexible high school curriculums and courses for rehabilitated drug addicts.

Assessing the general outlook

for the school system, Scribner said: "I think this is going to be our best year in many years."

In other school developments, about 560 lay teachers at 12 Catholic high schools in Brooklyn and Queens voted Sunday to approve a new two-year contract, averting a threatened walkout. The work accord provided no wage increase and virtually no new benefits.

Teacher strikes continued in three Rockland County areas — Pearl River, Clarkstown and Ramapo District No. 1 — as well as in the Plainville-Old Bethpage school district on Long Island, while some 400 teachers in Baldwin, another Long Island district, ratified a new contract.

Police Charge Suspect In Scholar's Burglary

A 21-year-old Kingston man was arrested Saturday afternoon on a charge of burglary in the third degree in connection with a break-in at Scholar's Appliance and Television at 661 Broadway last month, when loot valued at more than $2,500 was allegedly stolen.

Police booked David A. Price of the Rondout Gardens Apartments this city and held him for city court appearance.

Detective Lieutenant Charles McCullough said today that the burglary investigation is continuing and an additional arrest is expected to be made.

The company's garage at the rear of the television store was broken into on the night of Aug. 17 or early the following morning. Police reported at the time that a van truck owned by Scholar's was taken to carry away the merchandise that was reported stolen.

According to police the items missing from the store included 12 television sets valued at $2,629 and a stereo worth $204, a total of $2,833.

The merchandise had been delivered in a shipment received at the store on Aug. 17 and it was still crated when taken.

Child Health Meets Cancelled

The Child Health Conferences scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 12, and the clinic scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 26, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, have been canceled by the department.

The Sept. 12 conferences were to have been held in the Saugerties Health Center, Barclay Medical Center Building, The Sept. 26 clinic was to have been held at the Woodstock Health Center.

The dates for the October clinics will be announced.

Mini-Bike Injures Two

Two 12-year-old boys were injured at 3:45 p.m. Sunday when the motor mini-bike on which they were riding went out of control and hit a tree off a private road leading from Goat Hill Road in this township.

Hurley State Trooper Craig Bremer reported the vehicle operated by Allen Myer of Route 1, Box 358, Town of Woodstock, was traveling east on the road when the wheels reportedly hit a pot-hole causing the operator to lose control and the bike slammed into a tree.

Myer suffered a fracture of the left leg, troopers said, a passenger, Daniel Bogert of Route 1, Box 343A, Woodstock, sustained a laceration near the left eye. Both were taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment.

Lack of Water Hampers Vols At Accord Fire

Firemen from the Accord volunteer companies were unable to save a chicken barn that burned Sunday afternoon on the Samsonville road.

First Assistant Chief Lowell Baker and members of the Accord company responded at 5:19 p.m. and were joined at the scene by firemen from the Allgerville, Kerhonkson, and Rochester No. 2 companies at the farm of Mrs. Mary Cullinan.

The unoccupied chicken barn, used only for storage and partially fallen down, was almost totally destroyed by the blaze. Firemen were handicapped by a lack of water at the scene and had to set up a tanker relay from a farm pond a half mile away.

No other buildings were threatened. Firemen asked State Police to investigate the cause of the fire.

Five Nabbed In New Paltz

Five persons were arrested on charges of possession of dangerous drugs in the sixth degree by New Paltz Village Police early Saturday morning after the car in which they were riding was stopped for a violation and a quantity of marijuana and pills was allegedly found in the vehicle.

Taken into custody were the driver of the car, John A. Saggiomo, 24, of Brooklyn; Robert L. Castellano, 32, of Kingston; V. Wesolowski, 28, of West Nyack; P. Vandevoort, 33, of New York City; and Richard C. New, 31, of Brooklyn.

Saggiomo was also given summonses for driving an unregistered vehicle, driving without a vehicle identification number, and possession of a fictitious inspection sticker. Arraigned before Town of New Paltz Justice Rexford Schneider, each of the five persons was released on $250 bail. They are scheduled to reappear in court Friday, Sept. 15.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—The market opened mixed in moderate trading Monday on the New York Stock Exchange. The Dow Jones industrial average was off 0.37 at 960.87 shortly after the opening.

Advances led declines, 188 to 158, among the 310 issues crossing the tape. Turnover amounted to more than 480,000 shares.

Considerable uncertainty has pervaded Wall Street during the past several weeks. Concern may be increased, analysts said, by the International Monetary Fund's report this weekend saying the United States should raise short-term interest rates to ease its balance of payments deficit.

Investors showed little interest in the market last week. Some hesitation was attributed to concern over the shooting of 11 Israelis by Arab terrorists at the Munich Olympic Games, heating up the Middle East situation again.

Health Clinic Is Scheduled

The Ulster County Health Department will conduct a clinic for immunization against polio, whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, measles, and rubella in the New Paltz Health Center on Tuesday, Sept. 12. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m.

The Health Department recommends that immunization for whooping cough, diphtheria, and tetanus be started when the child is three months old. Measles and rubella should be given sometime after the child is one year old, and polio immunizations should be started when the child is three to six months of age.

The clinics serve those referred by their physicians but are also available for those who are otherwise unable to secure these immunizations, officials said.

Gotham Schools Are Open With New Guards on Duty

NEW YORK (AP) — The city's 900 public schools opened their doors today to a record influx of 1.16 million pupils as a newly expanded guard force stood ready to handle escalating school security problems.

Schools Chancellor Harvey B. Scribner said Sunday he was hopeful the assignment of 450 security guards to high schools and certain volatile junior highs would enable teachers and administrators to devote full attention to the job of improving education.

Although the security guards — termed "student-service officers" by school officials — will be able to arrest disruptive students if necessary, their primary function will be to defuse potentially dangerous situations before violence erupts.

The contract just reached between the Board of Education and the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers calls for growth of the security force to 1,200 guards, costing the schools an estimated $6 million a year.

School security had been a touchy issue during negotiations over the new work agreement. Leaders of the teachers' union had pointed to figures showing an increase from 333 incidents of school crime and violence in 1970 up to 580 incidents in 1971.

The Board of Education had initially pressed for stepped-up teacher efforts in patrolling school corridors, but this request was dropped as the board acceded to the UFT's demand for full-time guards.

The new contract is slated for a ratification vote Tuesday by the 60,000 rank-and-file members of the UFT. Union officials have said they expect the teachers will vote to approve the three-year agreement, which provides for 1975 a basic salary scale ranging from $9,700 starting pay to $16,650 for top-seniority teachers.

Enrollment this year in the nation's largest public school system was expected to total 1.16 million pupils, up 12,626 from the previous high set last fall.

Along with 18 new school buildings, the system will put into operation several new programs, ranging from expanded bilingual instruction to alternative, flexible high school curriculums and courses for rehabilitated drug addicts.

Assessing the general outlook

for the school system, Scribner said: "I think this is going to be our best year in many years."

In other school developments, about 560 lay teachers at 12 Catholic high schools in Brooklyn and Queens voted Sunday to approve a new two-year contract, averting a threatened walkout. The work accord provided no wage increase and virtually no new benefits.

Teacher strikes continued in three Rockland County areas — Pearl River, Clarkstown and Ramapo District No. 1 — as well as in the Plainview-Old Bethpage school district on Long Island, while some 400 teachers in Baldwin, another Long Island district, ratified a new contract.

Police Charge Suspect In Scholar's Burglary

KINGSTON

A 21-year-old Kingston man was arrested Saturday afternoon on a charge of burglary in the third degree in connection with a break-in at Scholar's Appliance and Television at 661 Broadway last month, when loot valued at more than $2,500 was allegedly stolen.

Police booked David A. Price of the Rondout Gardens Apartments this city and held him for city court appearance.

Detective Lieutenant Charles McCullough said today that the burglary investigation is continuing and an additional arrest is expected to be made.

The company's garage at the rear of the television store was broken into on the night of Aug. 17 or early the following morning. Police reported at the time that a van truck owned by Scholar's was taken to cart away the merchandise that was reported stolen.

According to police the items missing from the store included 12 television sets valued at $2,629 and a stereo worth $204, a total of $2,833.

The merchandise had been delivered in a shipment received at the store on Aug. 17 and it was still crated when taken.

Child Health Meets Cancelled

KINGSTON

The Child Health Conferences scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 12, and the clinic scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 26, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, have been canceled by the department.

The Sept. 12 conferences were to have been held in the Saugerties Health Center, Barclay Medical Center Building. The Sept. 26 clinic was to have been held at the Woodstock Health Center.

The dates for the October clinics will be announced.

Mini-Bike Injures Two

TOWN OF SAUGERTIES

Two 12-year-old boys were injured at 3:45 p.m. Sunday when the motor mini-bike on which they were riding went out of control and hit a tree off a private road leading from Goat Hill Road in this township.

Hurley State Trooper Craig Bremer reported the vehicle operated by Allen Myer of Route 1, Box 358, Town of Woodstock, was traveling east on the road when the wheels reportedly hit a pot-hole causing the operator to lose control and the bike slammed into a tree.

Myer suffered a fracture of the left leg, troopers said, a passenger, Daniel Bogert of Route 1, Box 343A, Woodstock, sustained a laceration near the left eye. Both were taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment.

Five Nabbed In New Paltz

NEW PALTZ

Five persons were arrested on charges of possession of dangerous drugs in the sixth degree by New Paltz Village Police early Saturday morning after the car in which they were riding was stopped for a violation and a quantity of marijuana and pills was allegedly found in the vehicle.

Taken into custody were the driver of the car, John A. Suggione, 24, of Brooklyn; Robert L. Castellano, 22, of New Paltz; and three others, all of New Paltz: Joseph C. New, 31, of Brooklyn; and Richard C. New, 31, of Brooklyn.

Suggione was also given summonses for driving an unregistered vehicle, driving without a vehicle identification number, and possession of a fictitious inspection sticker.

Arraigned before Town of New Paltz Justice Rexford Schneider, each of the five persons was released on $250 bail. They are scheduled to reappear in court Friday, Sept. 15.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—The

market opened mixed in moderate trading Monday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 0.37 at 960.87 shortly after the opening. Advances led declines, 188 to 158, among the 510 issues crossing the tape. Turnover amounted to more than 480,000 shares.

Considerable uncertainty has pervaded Wall Street during the past several weeks. Concern may be increased, analysts said, by the International Monetary Fund's report this weekend saying the United States should raise short-term interest rates to ease its balance of payments deficit.

Investors showed little interest in the market last week. Some hesitation was attributed to concern over the shooting of 11 Israelis by Arab terrorists at the Munich Olympic Games, heating up the Middle East situation again.

Bethlehem gained 1/4 to 30 1/2 in the mixed steels. U.S. Steel lost 1/4 to 30 1/4.

American Motors gave up 1/4 to 9 1/4.

Health Clinic Is Scheduled

NEW PALTZ

The Ulster County Health Department will conduct a clinic for immunization against polio, whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, measles, and rubella in the New Paltz Health Center on Tuesday, Sept. 12. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m.

The Health Department recommends that immunization for whooping cough, diphtheria, and tetanus be started when the child is three months old. Measles and rubella should be given some time after the child is one year old, and polio immunizations should be started when the child is three to six months of age.

The clinics serve those referred by their physicians but are also available for those who are otherwise unable to secure these immunizations, officials said.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although you are all stirred up to get much done and have the vitality and the help to do so, nevertheless do not be surprised or disappointed if many delays and restrictions take place. Actually they are giving you the chance to perfect your work so that you can be much more successful when conditions break.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make sure you plan your activities well before you start out in the morning, or you waste energy haphazardly, get little accomplished. Please mate or fiancée in some new and interesting way. Make the evening a happy one.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get your personal relationships improved but steer clear of the monetary matters that could make matters worse instead. Do not get involved in any public disagreements that could be dangerous. Take it easy tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make sure that you are not being conned into something without feeling it is what you want. Study all factors carefully. Listen to what co-workers have to say and go along with the good ideas you need.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Instead of feeling so sorry for yourself, get busy and do something constructive and all is fine for you. Take time to be with interesting personalities and have fun. Get rid of that habit of extravagance you have.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you get busy improving home conditions you will not feel so frustrated because you cannot go on a trip, or do outside duties you had planned. Don't bring up controversial subject at home, though. Keep the peace, as it were.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Improving routines, making and keeping appointments can turn this into a full and constructive day. Don't try to top the boss, or you get in big trouble now. Use diplomacy for best results.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get busy straightening out monetary matters instead of going out to new appeals that are hardly worthwhile. A financial expert could be of great help if you contact this person very early.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Showing others that you are charming and meaningful in your actions is fine, though you may have to delay somewhat where necessary. Doing whatever is thoughtful for good friends is wise and right. Think kindly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Getting the advice of fine experts is wise in a.m., but do not forget to show your gratitude. Close ties have worries that you can help alleviate. Teach to be more self-dependent.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show others that you are a loyal friend and add to the goodwill you now enjoy. Some effort you expend on social functions can bring ideal results now. Impress others with your charm and magnetism.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Those amusement ideas you have now are not good, so forget them. Get busy with business and credit affairs and make big headway. Give full attention to what a bigwig has to suggest and you benefit a good deal.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get on the good side of associates you have just made, but avoid that close tie who is in an angry mood. Anything of a basic nature can be set aside now until you get new information to add to future success. Think logically.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who is apt to be rather nervous and fast moving, so be sure to give the right diet and plenty of rest while young, plus some discipline so that tensions that may arise later in life can be met successfully. The field of investigation is excellent here, or whatever requires plenty of study of details, data. Give as fine an education as you can, plus some artistic study for cultural purposes. Religion early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

MISTAKES: (Q) I have been on punishment all summer and my parents say they are going to keep me on all of the coming school year. It is a "one-year sentence."

It's because last May I went to an end-of-school party and they had drinks. I am just 15 and had never drunk anything before.

I had too much and got drunk. I didn't get drunk. I got sick and threw up on my dress and had to go home. My parents said that was a terrible thing for a 15-year-old girl to do and put me on punishment. I can't go out at night for a whole year.

There won't be any parties like that till next spring. Even if there were, I know I wouldn't take a drink. But it will be really bad not to get to go anywhere all year. Do you think it's fair?—In for a Year in Indiana.

(A) I agree with you that you made a mistake. But other mistakes were made. The hosts should not have offered alcoholic drinks to 15-year-olds. Also, discipline should not be so severe as to deprive a teen-ager of the education he or she needs.

Talk to your parents. Tell them you know now that what you did was a mistake and you do not plan to repeat it. Explain to them that school activities are an important part of your education, and that if you are kept at home at night you will miss much of that part of your schooling for an entire year.

Ask them to reconsider your long "term." Offer to take on extra chores at home in return for the privilege of taking part in nighttime school activities and perhaps having a prescribed number of dates at night.

NEW SCHOOL: (Q) I'm starting a different school this fall, and I'm scared I'm told the girls in the school are snobs. I want to be popular but I don't want to be a snob. Help!—Afraid in Alabama.

(A) You will be popular and you won't become a snob if you are natural, friendly and try to be helpful to the other girls. Thinking of others is the magic touch!

Bob Newhart Returns to TV

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Bob Newhart returns to a weekly television series in a situation comedy a decade after the cancellation of his variety series—a wiser and more confident man.

"We had a national contest to find a winner for the most original title of our new series," said the comedian. "The title is 'The Bob Newhart Show.' How's that for originality?"

Newhart will play a psychologist in the series with Suzanne Pleshette as his wife. So far, so good.

But his television profession poses an immediate problem. "There is nothing particularly funny in watching a patient in the throes of a seizure. Nor are electric shock treatments necessarily good for laughs."

"We are working in a tenuous area," Newhart said. "If we deal with real psychological problems the premise is unfunny. So we employ lighter phobias like fear of flying and work it into the character's family life."

It was the noon break at CBS and Newhart was in the midst of a day's rehearsal. The series is filmed before a live audience in the manner of the "Lucy" and "Mary Tyler Moore" shows.

"Doing a sitcom is tougher in some respects than my old variety show because it's like memorizing a new play every week," he said.

Hired Best Talent

Back in 1961 I'd play a variety of characters and do a monologue. It was altogether different. To make it easy on myself I've made this psychologist (Bob Hartley) as much like Newhart as possible."

The comedian probably has renewed the best time slot available on television. He follows the CBS Saturday night lineup of "All in the Family" and "Mary Tyler Moore." Then comes Newhart and involved myself with the "Mission: Impossible," best possible talent available. I "You can't do better than don't feel any anxiety because I that," he said. "But see me feel I've done as much as I after the first 13 shows. That's can."

Trio of Americans In Viet Cong Army

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Three Americans have been seen serving with the Viet Cong for at least two years, military sources report. U.S. military intelligence knows them as Pork Chop, Salt and Pepper.

The men are believed to be deserters but could be prisoners of war who defected, the sources say.

Although seen from a distance by Americans and several times close at hand by Vietnamese villagers, they have eluded capture and have not been identified.

Salt and Pepper work together in Quang Ngai Province 70 to 90 miles south of Da Nang. South Vietnamese military vehicles and hijacked them at gunpoint.

He also is credited with having made off with two American armored personnel carriers from a vehicle park, hitching one to the other.

All three of the men are reported to have spent "leaves" in Da Nang, hitching rides into the city virtually under the noses of U.S. and South Vietnamese military police. Two of them were said to have been spotted riding a motorbike in the city last Christmas.

Villagers say the Viet Cong display the Americans in remote villages and tell the people:

"Look at these American comrades. We offer them only a life of hardship and struggle and yet they choose to fight at our side. They are living proof that our cause is just and soon will triumph."

A small U.S. military intelligence team at Da Nang is trying to track down the three men.

A reward for information about them has been suggested, but one source said officials were reluctant to do this for fear of endangering other Americans.

'Back-Seater' Becomes Ace

HONOLULU (AP) — Scoring his fifth MIG kill to join an elite club of U.S. air aces brought a brief burst of pride to Capt. Charles D. DeBellevue, but he says he was too busy at the time to dwell on the accomplishment.

"The MIG I shot down had a friend up there, and we didn't get a chance to get too excited. We were too busy trying to keep him from getting one of us," said the 27-year-old weapons system operator, the first "back-seater" since World War I to score the five kills needed to become an ace.

DeBellevue of Lafayette, La., was commander of a F4D Phantom fighter piloted by Capt. John M. Madden Jr. when they fired a heat-seeking Sidewinder missile to knock a MIG19 out of the sky near Hanoi Saturday.

DeBellevue flew here from Udorn Royal Thai Air Force Base Sunday and was awarded the Air Force Cross, the service's second highest medal for valor in combat, by Lt. Gen. Timothy F. O'Keefe, vice commander of the U.S. Pacific Air Force.

He also received the Distinguished Flying Cross, with two oak leaf clusters, and the Silver Star, with two oak leaf clusters.

With him was another Vietnam ace, Capt. Richard S. Ritchie, DeBellevue's normal flying partner. Ritchie was receiving the Air Force Cross at Tan Son Nhut airbase near Saigon while DeBellevue and Madden, 31, of Jackson, Miss., were in the air action over North Vietnam.

Until Saturday, Ritchie of Reidsville, N.C., had a one-kill lead over DeBellevue, who was on leave when the 30-year-old Ritchie downed a MIG21 May 31. Ritchie and DeBellevue bagged another MIG two weeks ago, giving Ritchie five kills and making him the first Air Force ace and the third U.S. ace in the Vietnam air war.

"All we did was shoot the MIGs down. We're getting the medals for it, but it's all the crew chiefs and maintenance troops that work on that aircraft that keep it peaked up," DeBellevue told newsmen.

Asked about a pilot's conscience, DeBellevue said: "We have feelings just like everybody else. I don't think you can say we're heartless killers. We're just doing the job."

Ritchie, pressed by newsmen on the issue of the war, said: "I think war is a terrible thing and something we all despise. I think there's something that's worse, and that's somebody that's not willing to fight for something he believes in."

U. S. Jets Blast Strategic Bridge

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. jet fighters Sunday blasted a strategic bridge in North Vietnam and hit targets never before attacked in the current bombing campaign.

U.S. spokesmen said today. One jet was shot down and the pilot is missing.

In South Vietnam, 45 Americans were injured Sunday when a stack of 200 South Vietnamese Air Force bombs blew up at the Dien Hoa airbase, 14 miles northeast of Saigon. The incident was initially reported as a rocket attack that wounded 29 Americans, but the U.S. Command in an updated report today said additional Americans were wounded and it was believed to have been an accident or the work of Communist infiltrators.

Two South Vietnamese soldiers were killed in the explosion, spokesmen said, and 20 wounded. Spokesmen said some of the American casualties were caused by flying bomb fragments while others occurred during the scramble to find cover.

The U.S. Command said pilots flew 320 raids into North Vietnam Sunday, the most in nearly a month. Spokesmen said a Navy A7 Corsair was shot down 14 miles southwest of Hanoi, the 1,019th U.S. plane lost over the North since the air war began more than eight years ago. The pilot was listed as missing.

Corona on Trial For 25 Slayings

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Farm-labor contractor Juan Corona goes on trial here today charged with slaying 25 itinerant workers, whose hacked bodies were found in shallow orchard graves along the Feather River beginning May 20, 1971.

By the time the 10th had been discovered, six days later, Corona was arrested. He later was charged with murdering all 25, four of whom never have been identified.

All were middle aged or older white men, and many were known around skid rows in Yuba City and Marysville, near where the killings took place.

Corona, 38, has pleaded innocent.

Some 200 witnesses are to testify and hundreds of pieces of evidence are to be examined in the case, which District Atty. G. David Teja of Sutter County admits is purely circumstantial.

The case was moved here to Sutter County on grounds Corona could not get a fair trial in Sutter County, where the bodies were found.

Superior Court Judge Richard E. Patton of Colusa County, especially assigned to try the case, has agreed he will question separately each of some 100 prospective jurors summoned in the first venire to make sure they have not been prejudiced by publicity.

Patton has forbidden principals from discussing the case out of court, but some details have emerged in court documents in the 15 months of pre-trial maneuvers and hearings.

These came to an end last week when defense counsel Richard Hawk of Concord agreed for Corona to submit handwriting tests.

These were sought by Teja to compare with a ledger said to have been found in Corona's home and to contain the handwritten names of some of the victims. Hawk says that, as of now, he intends to call only two defense witnesses: Teja's father, who knows Corona, and Jack Sullivan, a rancher on whose land most of the bodies were found.

Much of Hawk's case is expected to emerge in his cross-examination of the 175 witnesses the state has indicated it will call.

Lansky Appeal Rejected

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel's Supreme Court rejected an appeal by American gambler Meyer Lansky for Israeli citizenship today.

The court's ruling cleared the way for the 71-year-old underworld magnate's expulsion from the country in which he sought refuge more than two years ago. He is under indictment in Florida and New York for illegally receiving gambling profits and failing to pay taxes on them.

State Atty. Gabriel Bach told the court last spring that if the government expelled Lansky, it would give him a travel permit to go to any country he chose. He said there was no intention of turning him over to the United States since Washington has not requested his extradition.

However, the U.S. State Department has confiscated Lansky's passport, and the court's refusal to grant him Israeli citizenship leaves him virtually stateless unless he returns to America.

Lansky claimed Israeli citizenship because he is a Jew and the "law of return" offers citizenship to almost all Jews who come to the Jewish homeland. The Interior Ministry denied his application on the grounds that he had a criminal past and would endanger the public welfare.

Lansky's lawyer contended that the government's claim of a criminal past was based on "rumor and gossip," and that he had no record of criminal conviction.

A federal grand jury in Miami, Fla., indicted Lansky and four others on March 25, 1971, on charges of conspiracy to conceal $2 million in profits from the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev., illegally.

Revenue Sharing Proposal... Amendments Stymie Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders are pushing for final passage of the $34.8-billion revenue-sharing bill but first must consider a couple dozen amendments, including one that would help finance the program.

The Senate acted on 22 amendments in four days of debate last week but at least as many are pending, including a tax-reform measure and a series to increase Social Security benefits.

Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., pointed out that the plan first was proposed in 1964 at a time when federal surpluses were in prospect.

It was rejected then but, he declared, it makes much less sense now at a time of very large and mounting federal deficits.

The program "will not reduce taxes; it more likely will increase taxes," Stevenson asserted.

The Senate bill, worked out in the Finance Committee, contains a money distribution formula which generally gives much more money than the House bill to the smaller and poorer states and less to the large, wealthy states.

Boeing to Sell Jets to China

SEATTLE (AP) — The liner, with a passenger capacity of about 180, sells for nearly $40 million. But, he said, with 10 jetliners to mainland China, spare parts, training and other equipment, the Chinese sale probably would total $150 million.

The giant aerospace firm said the agreement for sale of the Boeing 707s, worth about $150 million, was signed in Peking Sunday after nearly five months of negotiations with Chinese officials.

A Boeing spokesman said details were being withheld pending the arrival in Washington Tuesday of Byron H. Miller, Boeing's international sales director and head of the team that negotiated the contract.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said he could not confirm or deny whether the deal had been made. But he added that, if it had, "it would not be unexpected."

Boeing's spokesman said the long-range, intercontinental jet-

GRAND UNION'S FOUNDERS' DAYS SALE!

FOODS...

That's right - "GRAND UNION" joins the ranks of "A CENTURY". Little did "CYRUS D. and FRANK S. JONES" - founders of the GRAND UNION COMPANY know when they were busy delivering tea from house to house in Scranton, Pa., back in 1872 - that their little company would grow and flourish into one of the Nation's most outstanding food chains (10th largest). The key to their success was the respect and loyalty they had gained from their customers for their service, quality of product and reasonable price that they had asked... that same respect and loyalty from literally millions of food shoppers has become a hallmark in Grand Union's fine history of service and fine quality, at the lowest possible price. So why not - join us and save for this week and next and see the "PEOPLE PLEASERS" in action... You'll be glad you did.!
